

THE SHORTEST WILL.

It is recalled by another short one recently probated in Pennsylvania.

"I read in a New York paper the other day," said a former member of the bar of Luzerne county, Pa., "an item about a will recently admitted to probate in McKeesport, which only contained twenty-four words, and which, the item stated, was unique among wills, because of its brevity. I was reminded by this that the shortest will on record is one on file in the office of the Register of Luzerne county. That will, including the signature, contains but nine words. It was written with a lead pencil on a half sheet of note paper, and is as follows:

"Emily R. Miner is my heir.

"SARAH K. MINER.

"The will when found was enclosed in an envelope, which was indorsed: 'Read this when I am dead.' The maker of the will was a blind woman, and was famous in her day as the 'Blind Poetess of the Wyoming.' She was a daughter of Hon. Charles Miner, whose 'History of the Wyoming Valley' is among the rarest and most valuable local histories ever written. He was also the ablest and best-known journalist in Pennsylvania half a century ago. He founded the Village Record of Westchester, Pa., and subsequently the Miner's Record, in Wilkesbarre. He represented the West Chester district in congress several terms, and was one of the first to develop the anthracite coal interests of the Lehigh and Wyoming valleys.

"Miss Miner, his daughter, who died in 1874, was blind from childhood, and learned to read by touching the wood types in her father's printing office. She was the first person admitted to the Pennsylvania institution for the blind who could read before entering. She early developed poetical genius, and the earlier magazines and periodicals contain many of her contributions. She was possessed of a marvelous memory, and when her father was collecting data for his proposed history of Wyoming she accompanied him on his visits to surviving pioneers of the bloody days of the valley, listened to their narratives, and recited them word for word to her father on returning home, while he put them upon paper. Some of these are strikingly graphic and stirring in their language. Her will, although it disposed of large and valuable interests, and although there were many heirs at law, was admitted to probate without question. The legatee was a favorite niece of Miss Miner."

STRANGE WAVES.

A Remarkable Marine Phenomenon in Algeria Twenty Years Ago.

The mysterious wave which did so much damage to life and limb and to the steamship Etruria, recently, properly belongs to that class of physical phenomena for which there is as yet no satisfactory explanation, unless it be that of submarine earthquakes. Whatever the cause, says the Chicago Times, certain it is that they have taken place time and again and always caused much damage, on account of their sudden and unexpected appearance and the awful power wielded while they last. One of the worst known occurred in the year 1869. It was the first day of November, and the people of Oran, Algeria, had been experiencing beautiful weather. No breeze was blowing and the harbor was stirred by scarcely a ripple. Even after it was all over, mariners on vessels lying a few miles out from shore said no storm of any kind had been experienced, yet the people on shore suddenly noticed the approach of a tide of unparalleled height and violence which submerged the coast line far beyond the ordinary mark and destroyed in its course much valuable property. On the tide's ebbing, when the danger was supposed to be over, great submarine billows broke over the harbor and coast and beat furiously against the splendid new mole lately constructed for the protection of the port for the space of thirty-six hours. Receding, the immense waves uncovered the foundations of the mole to the depth of eight yards below the ordinary water level, and, advancing, broke high over the vessels within the harbor, some of them sending their spray clean over Fort Lamoune—that is to say, more than one hundred yards high. These terrible shocks, repeated with regularity every minute, soon racked and rent the pier on the sea-side; in the space of a few hours great fissures on the top and on the side next the town became visible and its total destruction was seen to be inevitable. Before evening scarcely a vestige remained of the once splendid mole, which, on the morning of the same day, measured nine hundred yards in length and seemed to be able to resist the storms of many centuries.

A Check on Telephone Talk.

The present system of charges for the use of telephones by annual subscription is by many considered unjust, inasmuch as some subscribers speak often and much, whereas others use the telephone only occasionally. In some German telephone offices an electrically driven clock is attached to each telephone, which will work as long as the telephone is off the hook, and stops directly it is replaced. The service is charged for according to the time recorded. It is claimed for this system that unnecessary conversations are prevented, that those that take place are limited to reasonable length and the useful efficiency of the whole installation is increased.—Electricity.

The Wily Mongolian.

An artful Chinaman was recently arrested in Tucson, A. T., as an invader. He had accumulated seven thousand dollars, as the product of several years' labor in Mexico. Deeming this sum sufficient to give him ease and comfort for life in the flowery land of his birth, he sent his earnings to China, then crossed to Arizona, with the hope that the United States authorities would arrest him under the Chinese exclusion law and send him to China at the expense of the government. The wily Mongolian's design was to save his passage money.

More Rumors and Bicycle Accidents.

ROANOKE TIMES BUREAU, }
RADFORD, VA., Dec. 3. }

The ticket sales for the month of November at the station in the eastern section were $23,230, and at the western section $1,117.60.

Citizens of the eastern section are highly elated over the fact that it is rumored in railroad circles that the Norfolk and Western is contemplating moving all houses on their plot of ground, between Virginia and Norfolk streets and the railroad, and converting same into a beautiful park. This would not only enhance the value of the Norfolk and Western's property and others, but would also add greatly to the appearance and healthfulness of that section.

What might have been a serious accident yesterday afternoon, was avoided by the coolness and courage of Capt. Jno. Whaling. Theo. Labrum, of the firm of Lucas & Labrum, is an expert bicyclist, and, as usual, was enjoying a spin yesterday afternoon. Being in a hurry he attempted to pass Captain Whaling, at the same time avoid a wagon coming in the opposite direction and very close, which only left a small space for him to go through. The horses attached to the wagon shied or Mr. Labrum became excited; at any rate he was knocked down and fell under Captain Whaling's horse. That gentleman used every effort to hold his horse, and succeeded in doing so, finding that Mr. Labrum was right under the horse's heels with the wheel of the buggy against his neck. He was lifted out and found to be uninjured, with the exception of a few bruises.

Mrs. S. D. Numan left to-night on No. 2 for New York, where she was summoned to-day on account of her father's death.

A much needed improvement has been made in the eastern section by placing a substantial walkway on Virginia street.

G. W. McGregor, an old Radfordite, of Fort Worth, Texas, is in the city for a few days on business.
